Baltimore Beat Party Showcases Local Producers

Baltimore, MD – On Thursday, December 1, 2022, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., the Baltimore Beat Party (BBP) brings its latest roster of hip hop, R&B and Baltimore club producers to Blakwater Production House at 218 W. Saratoga St. Baltimore, MD 21217. This event offers the public an exclusive, first time studio experience of discovering a hit beat.

Since its premiere in June 2022, BBP has introduced a brand new form of music entertainment to the city. The best music producers in Baltimore gather once a month to debut their original beats to a live audience. To date, BBP has amassed a roster of 50 producers and has consistently grown beat party attendance to near capacity.

BBP founder Imani “Beats” Muleyyar says, “I’ve always believed that the best music talent is in Baltimore. My goal is to create a platform for them to be seen and heard by the world.” BBP seeks out the next superstar producers and puts them on stage to not just play their beats, but perform them. “The Baltimore Beat Party is a vehicle to unite the great talent of this city and take the music industry by storm,” says Imani. In so doing, BBP creates a networking environment where recording artists, label execs and music consumers can scout new talent while building community around their music.

“This is just the beginning,” says Imani, “and I appreciate all the love and support helping to turn this dream into a reality.”
